June 2/2003

To Federal Justice Minister Martin Cauchon

I am sending you a copy of the letter I wrote to the Supreme Court today.

I know you and your office have constantly endorsed the charge against me, and intervened to promote the charge against me. My hope is that you now feel obligated to assist in removing the fraudulent claims that have been incorporated into the decision against me.

It is my belief you are Justice Minister for all Canadians. It is my hope you can now find the ability to separate your office from the aggressive stance against me your office has taken in the past, and find a way to help me eliminate the erroneous findings in the January 18/2001 Supreme Court decision.

I have written to you or your office 4 times in the past asking you to help me get an accurate assessment of the “more effective pain medication” so frequently relied on in the Supreme Court’s decision. And these letters are featured on pages 7, 173, 180, and 187 of my material I am having sent to you.
